Modern update of the classic Schoolhouse Lamp.
Organic, warm, and sculptural.
Diffuses ambient light upward and outward; sends direct light below.

Handcrafted in New York City.
The glass is blown to a sphere, then lifted up and spun, using centrifugal force and gravity to create the squat 'stone' shape.

A ring of semi-polished glass at the opening contrasts with the rest of the glass and creates optic effects. Each one is unique.

It is available in a variety of sizes, colors, and finishes; fully customizable.
